Building A Ribbon Cutting and Grand Re-Opening

Chairman Maino and the Trustees cut the ribbon officially re-opening Building A. The public was then able to tour the new kitchen and see all the new HVAC and electrical improvements that comprised the project. Pictured left to right are: Trustee Morrissey, Trustee Nugent, Trustee Brinker, Chairman Maino, and Trustee Amoss.

Many residents were surprised to find out that the HVAC and electrical upgrades were the majority of the work in the project (the article is continued on page two).

Quarter Auction: Friday, April 8th, doors open for guests at 6pm

The auction starts at 6:30pm. This quarter auction is to benefit Michael Abt Jr. Have a Heart Foundation. Their mission is to donate AEDs (automatic external defibrillators) to schools nationwide and to educate staff on maintenance and training.

Barefoot Bay... "the perfect place to live, eat, and play."

Building A Grand Re-Opening (continued)

After the tour, Chairman Maino and 1st Vice-Chair Amoss dropped the first and second honorary baskets of French fries. The four basket fry station will enable staff to serve a better quality fried product and quicker as compared to the old kitchen or the 19th Hole (both of which had/have undersized friers given the demand for fried foods).

The residents in attendance then enjoyed a sampling of the fries cooked by Messrs. Maino and Amoss.

One resident reportedly suggested changing the Peek's motto to "Barefoot Bay...the perfect place to live, eat French Fries, and play."

Rumor has it South Florida experienced a mild earthquake last Monday as the late Julia Child rolled over in her grave in the Neptune Memorial Reef in Miami, Florida, which is 3.25 miles east of Key Biscayne.
